HEARTS BLEED FOR VOTES

WASHINGTON these days is a Negro city, with 70 per cent of its school population colored. It is 100 per cent integrated. Official Washington is on direct and intimate notice as to whether mixed schools work well or badly.

What is happening in the capital city of the nation? The white population is in full flight. In 1930 the white school population of Washington was 51,367.

In 1957 it is 33,000 and going down every day, as white parents take their children and flee to Virginia or Maryland.

In 1930, the Negro school population of Washington was 27,091. Today it is 77,000 and growing.

Where does President Eisenhower's son send the grandchildren? To a private school.

Where does Vice-President Nixon send his daughters? To a private school.

Where does Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. send his children? To a private school.

Where does Associate Justice William J. Brennan send his daughter, his only child of the school-age bracket? To a private school.

Where does Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy send his son? To a private school.

The Columntator can not help but snort at all these bleeding hearts that bleed for votes in Harlem, Los Angeles, Detroit and the Chicago Black Belt. Surely they bleed fetid blood.

New York and Los Angeles, Chicago and Detroit revolted when the Eighteenth Amendment outlawed liquor and the Congress enacted the Volstead Act to enforce it. New York and Los Angeles, Chicago and Detroit said "To hell with the Constitution. No one has a right to tell a man what he shall eat or what he shall drink."

But now that we have an amendment put into the Constitution by the bayonets of the Reconstruction and never ratified by the free votes of the states, and now that the Supreme Court has read into that amendment a meaning never so much as considered in a time when public schools were a rarity for anybody, black or white —now the hearts that bleed for votes send bayonets again into the South to enforce a situation which they can not accept for their own children. The Columntator has no respect for them. And that is putting the matter lightly.

Nor is the column overawed by the news that Red Russia does not approve of

Jeers Greet Negroes At Little Rock High

LITTLE ROCK (UP). — Nine Negro students entered Central High School without a troop escort this morning. They were greeted by jeers and catcalls from some 40 white students who had been assembled on the school steps.

The Negroes, six girls and three boys, were driven to school as usual in an Army station wagon preceded and followed by jeep-loads of National Guardsmen. The convoy arrived at the front of the school at 8:20 a. m. c.s.t.

The students got out and walked unescorted across the campus. Instead of walking up the front steps, as on previous days, they veered and entered the building through a side entrance on the ground level.

GROUP STAND ON STEPS.

A group of 40 to 45 white boys and girls stood on the steps awaiting their arrival. Such a group has been on the steps each morning since integration began.

As it became apparent that the Negro children would not walk up the steps through this crowd, some of the white youths shouted "chicken" and made jeering noises.

The Negroes entered the building without further incident.

Mrs. Lucius C. Bates, Arkansas president of the NAACP, said the students had "a terrible day" at school Tuesday.

Mrs. Bates said pencils, papers and pebbles were thrown at the children. She said the girls were shown knives and were shoved.

"When they asked a guardsman about reporting the incidents he just moved away," the Negro woman said. "They the children got no protection."

◆ ◆ ◆

JUST 'WONDERFUL.'

Mrs. Margaret Jackson, vice president of the anti-integration Mothers League of Central said "wonderful" when told of Mrs. Bates statement.

"I have no animosity in my heart for colored people but there is resentment in our hearts . . . that never was there before," she said.

Mrs. Jackson said "every day the President leaves his troops in Little Rock, he contributes to our cause."

Mrs. Bates said that the children would continue to go to school as long as the President assures them protection.

◆ ◆ ◆

CONFLICTING VERSIONS.

There were conflicting versions as to what happened when one Negro girl walked up the school building stairs to enter the building Monday.

One version was that a white boy tried to block the path momentarily, appeared to knock one Negro girl's books out of her arms.

The other version was that the girl merely dropped her books, stopped to pick them up.

At any rate, guardsmen were seen rushing toward the girl. By that time, she had picked up the books and had gone into the building.

Ernest Green, 16, one of the Negro students said, however, things went smooth with him at school. Ernest is the biggest of the boys and played basketball for his Negro high school last year.

Milling Mobs White Teenagers Maul Students

MATOAKA, W. Va. (UP).—Milling mobs of white teenagers mauled six Negro students today as they attempted to enter Matoaka high school.

And, 35 miles to the west, white junior high school students marched a mile-and-a-half to try and stir up racial trouble in another southern West Virginia coal town.

State and municipal police prevented serious flare-ups in each case.

The demonstration at Matoaka marked the first physical clash this year between white and Negroes in West Virginia, where every country has taken steps towards complete integration of schools.

More than a hundred white students crowded six Negro teenagers as they walked to classes at the school where a week-long walkout was staged last year when the Negroes registered.

Two of the Negro boys were shoved and slapped. The others ran a gauntlet of jeers and sneers in outracing their assailants.

Football Queen To Be Crowned At Game Friday

Boyd High School students Tuesday named six finalists in the annual Homecoming Queen contest, the winner of which will be revealed at halftime at Friday night's McKinney Lion - Ennis football game at Newsome Stadium.

Finalists selected Tuesday were Pam Smith, Ann McKinney, Patty Perkins, Linda Hackney, Linda Robinson and Nancy Travillion. Miss Smith is a senior; Misses McKinney, Perkins and Hackney the juniors, and Misses Robinson and Travillion are sophomores.

Boyd Williams, president of the MHS "M" Assn., has announced plans for a barbecue for all McKinney High ex-lettermen to be held at Newsome Stadium at 6:30 Friday evening. Following the meal a short business meeting is scheduled at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

All former McKinney High athletes are cordially invited to attend the barbecue, the meeting and the football game to follow.

Band Director George McCoy is arranging a special half-time show for the occasion.

Town Meeting Set At Plano Thursday Night

A hundred Planoites are expected to air their views on their home town's problems, Thursday night (October 3), at the first of the community's town meetings.

The monthly meetings are sponsored by the Plano Chamber of Commerce. Chamber President Reese Henry said the organization needs the constructive help of the citizenry in meeting and solving the problems of the rapidly growing South Collin city. Henry is aiming for community wide participation.

Temporary Chairman of Thursday night's meeting is Roy Murrell, aided by Homer Horton and Leon Dugger, all Plano merchants. Chairman Murrell praised the discussions as a start in getting the citizens alert to the rapid growth the town faces.

The Initial town meeting this Thursday will be held in the Plano Elementary School auditorium at 18th and M Place, at 7:00 p.m.

Plano has doubled in population within the last eight years. Several manufacturing plants have located there. Central Expressway is nearing completion, putting Plano less than 30 minutes from Downtown Dallas.

Police Stymied Over Missing Newswoman

JOLIET, Ill. (UP).—Police today planned to take formal statements from a number of persons in an effort to find a motive for the apparent abduction of Amelia Molly Zelko, manager of a crusading weekly newspaper here.

At the same time it was revealed that the FBI had entered the puzzling case. Charlotte French, 27, an employe of newspaper, "The Spectator," said she was questioned by federal agents last Saturday.

Police Chief Joseph Trizna said he wanted to get written statements today from associates and relatives of Miss Zelko and from William R. McCabe, publisher of the paper, and members of his family.

Two daughters of the publisher, Mrs. Jean Oliver, 44, and Mrs. Mary Lou Lowry, both of Lockport, Ill., said they will take over publication of the paper this week.

Miss Zelko disappeared last Wednesday night. Neighbors said they heard screams from the vicinity of her apartment.

Authorities found Miss Zelko's shoes and her car ouside the apartment, but no indication the woman had spent the night in her rooms. Police have been unable to find any other tangible clues to her disappearance.

9,150 Flu Cases Are Reported

AUSTIN (UP)—A total of 9,151 cases of flu in Texas were reported to the State Health Department for the week ending Sept. 28, along with 11,631 cases of "influenza-like illnesses."

Sixty-one counties reported flu, four of them with 1,000 or more cases.

Counties reporting more than 500 cases included Jefferson, 1,876; Reeves, 1,200; McLennan and Orange, 1,000 each; El Paso, 752; Webb, 592; Brazos, 589, and Travis, 586.

The Health Department said it received a telegram from the California Health Department supporting the use of Asian flu vaccine, although surplus is available in California for shipment to Texas.

Former Professor Is Arrested

SHERMAN, Tex. (UP). — Former college professor and Air Force major has been arrested and charged with leaving a trail of hot checks over two states.

James R. Copeland, 39, who taught at Tampa, Fla., University after his discharge as a major from the Air Force in 1951, is being held here without bond.

Sheriff Woody Blanton said he had traced a trail of forced checks from Denison, to Durant and Ardmore, Okla. He has also received calls from Fort Worth and several points in South Texas, he said.

When arrested, Copeland was carrying 53 checks totaling more than $5,000.

Strike Wave And General Unrest Sweeps France

PARIS (UP). — A wave of strikes, strike threats and general economic unrest swept France today making urgent and more difficult President Rene Coty's task of finding a new premier.

The political crisis was so deep, so far reaching that a growing feeling of alarm was reflected in the Paris press. Prices dipped on the stock market and the franc fell slightly Tuesday.

The government of Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury was down but not quite out as result of the loss of a vote of confidence Monday night. He was legally still in office, but with no actual power.

To President Coty fell the task of bringing some order out of the threatened chaos and the feeling grew he must find another French strongman, another Gen. Charles de Gaulle or another Pierre Mendez-France.

The labor unrest piled troubles on a government already bogged down in disagreement. France had no firm hand to quell the national discontent or even to represent the country at the forthcoming U.N. debate on Algeria.

Farmers throughout France were on strike against the government's agricultural price-pegging policy, still in effort despite Bourges - Maunoury's downfall.

Sporadic industrial strikes broke out across the country.

PLAYING IT SAFE

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP).—Safety may be first in the Iowa Safety Department, but Edwards Fitzgerald is a close second. Fitzgerald reported for work in an executive position with the department, only to find "no person had been hired yet."

APPOINTMENT ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON (UP). — The State Department has announced the appointment of Wilson T. M. Beale Jr. of Falmouth, Mass., as deputy assistant secretary of state for economic affairs.

GOV. FAUBUS STANDS PAT ON STATEMENT

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus refused today to give President Eisenhower additional assurances that he will prevent interference with integration at Central High School.

"I will stand on the statement I made yesterday," Faubus told a United Press reporter as he drove to a news conference at the Capitol.

Eisnhower said that Faubus' statement Tuesday was inadequate assurance, and that federal troops would not be withdrawn from Little Rock on the basis of it.

Faubus made clear that he is determined not to alter the language of his declaration, as a group of go-between southern governors hoped he would do, to break the stalements between federal and state authorities.

◆ ◆ ◆

YIELDED ENOUGH.

"I have made my public statement and I will stand by it," he said.

"I've given until it has hurt. They want to get me in a spot. They want to blame me. They have contended there was no evidence of disorder and violence, but there must be something that keeps them down here, which proves my contention from the beginning."

The governor intimated that so far as he is concerned, the next move in the situation is up to Eisenhower.

His stand appeared to quash hopes of four moderate southern governors that Faubus would modify the language of his original statement to conform to what the governors and the White House thought Faubus had agreed to by telephone.

◆ ◆ ◆

ACCEPTS RESPONSIBILITY.

Faubus said:

"The negotiations were on the basis of these two points: First—that I would assume responsibility to maintain law and order; second—that I would not obstruct the orders of the courts."

"That pledge was contained in my statement issued yesterday. I will stand on that statement."

A few minutes later, Faubus repeated to a crowded news conference his decision to stand pat.

Dynamite Stick Tossed In Yard Negro Students

GRENNSBORO, N.C., Oct. 1 (UP)—A stick of dynamite was tossed tonight into the yard at the home of two Negro students recently integrated into an all-white school here, police said.

The dynamite blew a hole in the yard at the home of Elijah H. Herring Sr. Police reported there were no injuries and there was no property damage from the blast which occurred at about 10 p.m.

Police picked up four suspects for questioning in connection with the dynamiting, but refused to identify the persons as to name or race.

The Herring home is about one mile from the formerly all-white Gillespie Park Elementary School which Herring's two sons, Elijah Jr. and Russell, began attending three weeks ago.

The elder Herring also was involved in a suit brought by a group of Negroes seeking to end racial regregation at the city-owned but privately-operated Gillespie Park Golf course. A federal judge ordered an end to segregation at the course but golf club officials closed the course rather than comply with the ruling.

Abandoned Car Found By Officers

There were 12 prisoners in the County Jail Wednesday morning, according to a report from the Sheriff's office. Most of Tuesday's activities were routine and patrol work.

Deputies Vaughn and Day are investigating a car which they found abandoned on Highway 289 near Prosper Tuesday night.

Chief Jack Pike reports the arrest of one "Drunk" Tuesday night.

Sen. Yarborough Compliments 85th Congress

DALLAS (UP). — Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) Tuesday night complimented the 85th Congress for passing the FHA home-building bill and then slammed the same Congress for not doing anything about inflation.

"Lowering the requirements for down payments on FHA houses into a bracket that 55 per cent of American families can afford did more to stave off a depression than any other single measure passed this year," Yarborough said at a meeting of the Oak Cliff Chamber of Commerce.

The most important bill passed by the 85th makes it possible to buy a $10,000 home with a down payment of $300 or a $12,000 one with a $600 down payment.

Yarborough, pointing up the necessity of the bill, said that 25 per cent of the nation's families had no money saved and another 30 per cent had less than $500; therefore making it almost impossible for them to own a home.

As for inflation, the junior Senator from Texas called it to No. 1 enconomic problem in the United States and criticized Congress for not taking any action to combat it, but neither did he offered a remedy.

The Forest Grove Cemetery Aid Society announces the annual chili supper will be held there October 10 for the benefit of Fitzhugh Cemetery.

The ladies of the Society are asked to bring cakes or pies. The supper wil be served under the tabernacle, adjoining the Forest Grove Church. The public is invited.

Man Falls Into Vat Of Hot Oil

DALLAS (UP)—Carl W. Ely fell into a vat of scalding oil late Tuesday, but was rescued quickly by a co-worker.

Ely, 42, was taken to Methodist Hospital where attendants said he was in serious condition from first and second-degree burns.

Ely and Durell Pierce, 23, were working on top of that vat filled with 300-degree oil when Ely stumbled backwards and pitched into the vat.

Another worker said Ely went completely under in the 14-foot-deep vat of oil. But Pierce quickly grabbed Ely's cuff and jerked him out before the thick liquid had time to seep completely through Ely's work clothes and scald him to death.

Strike Talks At Standstill

HOUSTON (UP). — Negotiations to settle the Lone Star Steel Co. strike were at a standstill today after union representatives and attorneys walked out of the talks Tuesday night.

Federal mediator C. A. Wheeler announced he was returning to his Little Rock headquarters and will be available should discussions be renewed.

Lone Star attorney Howard Jensen said the reason for the walkout was "The company's position has not changed and the union representatives were so advised."

Jensen said he was speaking of the company's announced policy of not rehiring workers who didn't return to their jobs by midnight Sept. 24 or their next regular shift after that.

Officials Link Gunman With Other Killings

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (UP) Authorities today sought to link a gunman, who with a companion shot and killed two state troopers, with the unsolved murders of five persons in California and New Mexico.

Victor Wayne Whitley, 26, Granger, Tex., was captured Tuesday near North Vernon, Ind., after a night-long search by a force of about 250 police officers. His arrest climaxed one of Indiana's greatest manhunts since the days of Dillinger.

State police sent Whitley's picture and fingerprints to western points as a suspect in the murder of two El Segundo, Calif., policemen last July, and the slaying of two young women and a man in New Mexico two days later.

The tall, blond bandit, held in jail here under a heavy guard, admitted he and his slain accomplice staged a cross-country crime spree before their wild two-state flight that began Monday afternoon in Michigan.

In their wake the killers left one state patrolman dead and one wounded seriously in Michigan, and another state policeman dead and two police officers wounded, one critically, in Indiana.

Also killed was Whitley's partner in crime, Ralph Walker Taylor, 36, of near St. Alban's, W. Va.

Taylor was wounded fatally by a volley of police bullets when the two bandits crashed a road block south of North Vernon shortly before midnight Tuesday night.

Violation Of Congress Intent Is Charged

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd accused President Eisenhower today of violating the intent of Congress by failing to cut federal spending for the current government year.

The Virginia Democrat, leading economy advocate and chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, made the charge after publication of the administration's mid-year budget review.

The review showed that despite heavy appropriation cuts and military strength reductions the federal government now expects to spend 200 million dollars more than Eisenhower estimated last January—before all the budget-cutting furor arose.

The new estimate of federal spending for the 12 months ending next June 30 is 72 million dollars, instead of the peacetime record $71,800,000,000 predicted by Eisenhower in January.

Government income will slump by 100 million dollars—from the expected $73,600,000,000 to $73,500,000,000 for the year. The 1957-58 surplus will be cut from $1,800,000,000 to $1,500,000,000.

MOUNT ARLINGTON, N. J. Oct. 1 (UP)—A 15-year-old Boy Scout shot and killed his brother-in-law today when the man attacked his estranged wife with a red hot potato masher and a carving knife.

The boy, Lester Aiken, fired at 43-year-old John Sandor as he stood in the doorway of the bedroom of his estranged wife, Madolyn, Mrs. Sandor, 32, escaped with superficial knife wounds of the left hand. Morris county prosecutor Frank C. Scergo questioned Lester, a high school freshman, and released him pending further investigation.

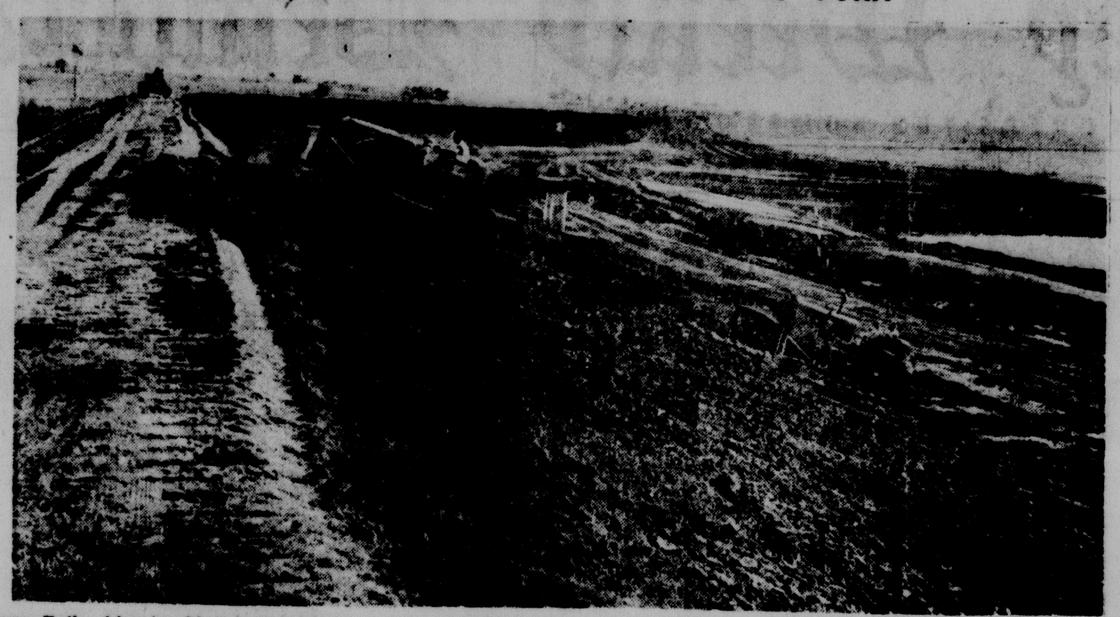
FLOOD CONTROL LAKES BUILT ON EAST FORK



Courtesy Dallas Morning News

The picture above appeared in Sunday's Dallas Morning News concerning the flood control program along East Fork Creek, which will result in some 287 lakes. The articles accompanying the cut was written by Walter S. Robinson, of the News staff.

The picture above shows a dam located on the H. W. Hooper farm, under construction. The item as it was published in the News follows:

A stepped-up campaign to "control every drop of water" on the Trinity's oft-flooded East Fork will result in creation of 287 lakes off the rim of Dalas to the Northeast, East, and Southeast, Paul Hardin of McKinney, announces.

Hardin, executive secretary of the East Fork Association, a landowners group, reported completion of 53 of these new lades, announced that contracts had been let for 5 more dams, and that sites have been staked for dozens more.

Already scheduled for 1958 are 18 dams in the East Fork basin.

It is the state's most completely planned watershed control program, Hardin told The News.

He spoke as dirt-moving machines completed a huge earthen water barrier betwen Garland and Wylie. This dam will create a lake of 59 acres at "normal pool," but the dam could hold 225 acres of flood waters at spillway level. It is on the W. H. Hooper 206-acre farm, two miles Southeast of Wylie.

The lake-building program, which got off to a slow start in 1951, now is "really moving," Hardin said.

Fifteen new dams are operating on the East Fork above Lavon dam in Collin County. They were built by the Soil Conservation Service at a cost of $548,673.12.

On Sister Grove Creek, also above the Lavon dam, 7 dams created new lakes at a cost of $238,582.19, he said. These are in the Princeton area.

The Hooper dam is on Muddy Creek and is the last of 6 water barriers planned for this arm of the East Fork. These dams, in the Wylie sector, cost $225,644.58.

Around Rockwall, Northeast of Dallas the Soil Conservation Service has created 12 new lakes costing $346,935.13.

In the Lower East Fork area (near Kaufman), 13 dams creating lakes averaging 25 acres in size are already in use. These dams cost $337,574.19.

The five new dams under contion on the East Fork above Lavon, will cost a total of $147,014.89.

Hardin said the landowners, who provide the land easements, "pay about 50 per cent of the cost of these dams."

The federal money comes from the United States Soil Conservation Services, a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

BUYING CERTIFIED SEED.

Now that a number of crops have been harvested, and a lot of people will be buying next year's seed, it is important to obtain the best seed possible. Lee Coffey, experiment station agronomist, says there are several reasons why farmers should buy certified seed.

The seed tag tells the purity of the seed. Certified seed are more free of foreign material than non-certified seed. Certified seed are inspected and cleaned to get all these particles like weed seeds, dirt and other material out of them.

From the certified seed tag you can tell the germination percent of the seed. This is very important because some planting seed may have been heated when stored, therefore, they will not come up well.

The cost is very small in difference between certified seed and non-certified seed.

If you are buying seed now or in the future, it would be a wise investment to buy certified seed.

Small grain diseases during the current year have cost Texas producers an estimated $18,000,000. Harlan Smith, Extension plant pathologist, said the loss in bushels of grain was actually only a part of the accumulated losses to farmers. Lodging in combination with diseases greatly increased harvesting costs; test weighs were lowered as was germination and most important, grain prices were reduced because of these factors.

State Chemist J. F. Fudge has reported that total tonnage of fertilizer sold during the spring of 1957 was about 5 percent higher than for the same periods in 1955 and 1956. The tonnage of mixed goods sold was 15,000 tons less thn in 1956 but 35,000 more tons of materials were sold in 1957.

HALLOWEEN—FUN OR DESTRUCTION?

In the past few years, Halloween has become an excuse for vandelism and wanton destruction. Something can be done about it by planning ahead.

Large cities are solving the problem by providing activities for all. What they are doing can be adapted to smaller places.

PLAN an activity to include all. If it is to be a carnival be sure all groups are included. Give the youth a definite job to do. Make it a gala affair. Many cities plan an evening of fun on the town square — with contests an prizes galore and activities for every age group.

DECORATE the town . . . This lends itself to a good contest. Make arrangements with merchants to allow the older boys and girls to paint the windows with appropriate scenes of Halloween and Fall. This should be done through the junior and senior high school faculty — have worth while prizes for the outstanding art work. Don't forget that a clean-up is necessary — the windows must be left as they are found.

One city solved its problems of soaping windows by starting a campaingn early to have all boys and girls bring all soap scraps they could find to the Chamber of Commerce office and exchange them for a small token. The emphasis being placed on the sending of soap to less fortunate boys and girls across the seas. It worked two ways.

Boys and girls will go along with almost any idea if they feel they are a part of it.

Celina Man Owns Registered Jersey With High Record

A registered Jersey cow owned by C. E. Lair, Route 2, Celina, Tex., has been rated a Tested Dam by The American Jersey Cattle Club. The distinction was awarded Volunteer Eminent Jane for having three offspring with official production records.

The cow's progeny averaged 8,930 lbs. milk containing 487 lbs. butterfat on a twice-daily-milking, 305-day mature equivalent basis. The records were made under one of the programs of official testing of The American Jersey Cattle Club, which has its national headquarters located in Columbus, Ohio.

The Tested Dam rating aids Jersey owners in the selection of superior breeding stock. The three tested progeny required to qualify a cow as a Tested Dam may be either three tested daughters or three tested sons, or any combination thereof totaling three.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS — of — THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

"Grass recovery has been generally satisfactory in the flooded area of the detention pools of local floodwater retarding structures around McKinney, commented Roy Post, Soil Conservationist of the Soil Conservation unit of McKinney.

Studies made at thirty day intervals after the heavy spring rains revealed that Bermuda recovered completely except where water was trapped in pot holes. The lower levels of the detention pools were flooded 59 days ending June 16. Bermuda recovered in 12 to 20 days after the water receded, depending upon the depth of silt deposited on it.

"This points up another advantage of having conservation treatment on the watershed above the structures,' 'commented John Wells of Plano, chairman of the Collin Soil Conservation District. Wells has been a long time advocate of complete conservation treatment of the land above these structures. He stated, "It will be much better to keep the fertile soil on the land than to have it deposited 1-4 to 4 inches deep in the detention areas of the reservoirs as found during these studies

Service technicians making the study found that the native bluestem and better bunch grasses were killed out in the lower half of the flooded area. Annual vegetation, both winter and summer growing, were killed. Johnson grass and weeds were killed, but theer was little damage to vine mesquie (wire grass). There was very little loss of trees and more especially the hardiest tap root varieties.

Cockle bur, Johnson grass, and Buffalo bur were observed coming in where there were little or no perennial grasses. This brigs on the need for mowing of these pasture areas to control these undesirable plants.

These studies show that Bermuda grass recovered remarkably well even where it had been covered by floodwaters over 50 days. For this reason this grass will receive more attention in the future where land treatment is planned by landowners on areas subject to flooding or overflow. Bermuda is a valuable grass in keeping silt out of the reservoirs as well as having considerable value for passure.

Collin Factories Exhibit Wares At County Fair

Collin County industrial plants brought samples of their products to the County Fair here the past week.

Holman's Textile Printers and Ceramics, manufactured in Frisco, were on exhibit in joining booths, where visitors were noted the fine quality of workmanship in each article shown. Trio Sportswear, another factory in Frisco, also displayed items of apparal.

Four of Plano's manufacturing concerns attracted the visitors to their booth where products from the Texas Wire & Cable Company; Eastman's brass and copper products and other items from that progresive little South Collin city.

McKinney's four plants—Texas Textile Mills, McKinney Pants Manufacturing Co., Heifner Manufacturing Co., and Mascot's Inc., combined their wares in a booth filled with materials from the Textile plant; those famous Haggar slacks from the Pants Company; dresses and sports wear from Heifner's, and stuffed animals, replicas of mascots of schools in the Southwest Conference.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company had a popular booth where a test switch board was in operation, giving the people a better insight of the telephone and its value to the community. Of special interest was the recorder whereby visitors were invited to hear their voices "over the phone."

Continental Homes, real estate firm of Dallas, is giving away a Westinghouse radio Saturday to some "lucky persons." Visitors to the booth are invited to register for the free drawing.

A collection of tools used by early settlers in Collin County were placed on exhibit by the Collin County Historical Society, of which Capt. Roy Hall is president. The tools, used to clear land and till the soil will bring back many memories to the "Old Timers." Other antiques included clocks, household items such as a coffee mill, iron pots, pictures, etc. Some of the items are museum pieces and are kept at the Old Collin McKinney home, Finch Park. Others were loaned the Society for this exhibit.

Bill Abernathy, who resides in Archer City, was visiting with relatives and friends in McKinney recently.

Coach Paul Bryant, after viewing movies of Saturday's Texas Tech game, said Monday if Texas A&M doesn't "improve 100 per cent we won't beat Missouri this week or anybody on our schedule."

"And I'm not just whistling Dixie," he added. Bryant said he thinks the Aggies looked better against Tech than Maryland, but "we still have a long way to go." He singled out backs Charley Milstead, Roddy Osborne and Richard Gay for praise.

Rice worked through a hard scrimmage, since it was idle Saturday, concentrating on defensing Stanford's offensive patterns. The entire right side of the line and quarterback Fran Ryan missed practice with injuries but only one, tackle J. D. Smith, with a broken finger, is expected to miss next Saturday's game.

At Austin, the first two University of Texas teams ran through plays while the rest of the squal scrimmaged. Guard James Shillingburg and tackle Mike Dowdle were promoted to the first string.

Baylor used the same pattern, holding the top 22 men out of scrimmage. The first two units concentrated on play timing and blocking.

At Fort Worth, Coach Abe Martin sent the Texas Christian Horned Frogs through a two-hour passing session after noting the Frogs did not complete a pass in their upset of Ohio State. Al Lasater moved into the No. 1 right halfback slot in place of brother Marvin Lasater, who was nursing a leg muscle. The Frogs play Arkansas Saturday night.

Southern Methodist, which is idle this week, went back to work on fundamentals and discovered several minor ailments incurred in its surprising tie with Georgia Tech. None of the injured are expected to miss the Missouri game in Dallas, Oct. 11.

The regulars who drubbed Tulsa last Saturday took things fairly easy at Arkansas, but Coach Jack Mitchell had his scouts fill them in on what they might expect from TCU.

M'Kinney Only District 6-AAA Winner Last Week

By NORMAN SCOTT

McKinney, with their 20-7 win over Arlington, was the only victorious District 6-AAA eleven in last week's play.

Mt. Pleasant managed a 0-0 tie with Henderson while Denison outscored Paris, 30-13; Denton downed Greenville, 20-7; Breckenridge walloped Gainesville, 26-0; and Terrell edged Sulphur Springs, 21-12.

The Lions, who scored two touchdowns in a fourth quarter uprising to tame the Colts, now hold the honor of being the only undefeated club in the district.

Quarterback Robert Joplin and halfbacks Kenneth Locke and Charlie McEntire combined to lead the Lions over Arlington as a stout McKinney forward wall, anchored by ends Don Wharton and Jerry Miller and tackle Charlie Powell, held the Colts' dangerous running game in check.

Joplin, a 4-year senior signal-caller, turned in the best game of his career as he mixed his plays well to keep the Colts off-balance and called on Locke, another 4-year veteran, and McEntire, the hard-running junior, for jaunts through and around the big Colt line. Joplin scored two of the touchdowns, both on quarterback sneaks, and Locke chalked up the other six-pointer. Wharton converted twice.

The Colts scored their lone marker on an 18-yard pass from quarterback James Mills to end Ralph Valentine early in the second quarter with Charlie Key kicking the extra point.

Defensive play stole the spotlight in the Mt. Pleasant-Henderson deadlock, while quarterback Jerry Nelson led Denison to it's victory over Paris.

Two speedsters, John Mac Thomas and Bobby Steele, proved too much for Greenville as the Bronco kicked the Hunt County eleven. Quarterback Billy Hooten scored the Lions' only TD in the third quarter.

Breckenridge allowed Gainesville only 3 first downs and 21 net yards in their whitewashing of the Leopards, and Terrell capitalized on two Sulphur Springs fumbles for their margin over the Wildcats.

This week's games find Ennis at McKinney, Denison at Greenville, Paris at Sherman, Ft. Worth North Side at Gainesville, Mt. Pleasant at Mt. Vernon, and Sulphur Springs at Commerce.

TEXAS LEAGUE

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Houston's Tom Hughes carries the Texas League hopes tonight against Atalnta with the Dixie Series e-ened at a win apiece.

Houston took the second game of the series Tuesday night in Houston on a bases-loaded walk in the ninth inning for a 2-1 victory.

Cracker hurler Don Nottebart, who went the distance for Atlanta, walked pinch-hitter Nelson Burbrink to force in pinch-runner Nelson Chittum, replacing Pidge, Browne, with the winning run.

The Buffs tied it in the eighth on Fred McAlister's third hit of the game and a pair of errors by Atalnta shortstop Joe Morgan.

Ted Wieand took the win for Houston after relieving starter Howie Nunn.

Hughes will pitch against Atlanta's Corky Valentine tonight.

● THE PATROL

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, (UP)—In those old Horatio Alger books so popular in the days when Casey Stengel and Fred Haney were kids, the rags-to-riches theme invariably was the same—"wit and perseverance triumph in the end."

A lot of that Alger stuff must have rubbed off on these two rival managers in the 1957 World Series. Unlike Horatio's beardless heroes, success as major league managers was a long time coming to Stengel and Haney but in the end it was wit and perseverance that triumphed.

Otherwise, they wouldn't be out there today giving the last licks to the Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees on the eve of the series opener at Yankee Stadium.

• • •

EIGHTH PLACE MANAGERS

They'd have quit baseball long ago, for few managers ever had it tougher or waited longer — until their late 50s — for a whiff of pennant success.

Haney, hitherto known as one of baseball's "best eighth place managers," finally won a pennant with Milwaukee at 58. Stengel once known as positively the game's "best eighth place manager," won the first of his eight Yankee pennants at 58.

Probably no two series rivals ever had careers so neatly matched.

Their early years as big league managers were loaded with headaches, heartaches and failures. At one stage, both went back to the minors.

Stengel, though he had all the money he'd ever need, toughed it out at Milwaukee, Kansas City and Oakland. Dismissed by the St. Louis Browns in 1941, Haney hooked on as a broadcaster of the Hollywood club's games and wound up as Hollywood manager.

• • •

GOOD PUBLIC SPEAKERS

Stengel was ready when the call came from the Yankees in 1949. Haney was ready but the Pittsburgh Pirates weren't when Fred, against his wishes but as a favor to Branch Rickey, agreed to pilot the punchless Pirates in 1953. Haney finally got real tools to work with when he inherited the Milwaukee job early last season from Charley Grimm.

Wit and perseverance brought them to the top and still figures in their dealings both on and off the field.

Both are spirited public speakers and private conversationalists. Both play the percentages to the hilt, though Stengel is the more daring and more likely to go against the "book" for he interprets percentage differently than anyone else.

Both are fiery by nature but are mellowed by the years. They prefer to treat their players like adults who are in the business of winning baseball games.

WISMER SAYS:

By HARRY WISMER
Written for the United Press

NEW YORK (UP).—They've started, those upsets that make coaches hair turn grey or disappear altogether, and make the Sunday and assorted experts look like anything but.

The Big Ten took it on the chin in intersectional and out of conference games for the first time in a long while, and three of the five major upsets featured western conference teams. UCLA started it on Friday night, knocking off Illinois. Stanford and Texas Christian kept up the pressure by hammering Northwestern and Ohio State. Then in an old-fashioned statewide rivalry Notre Dame started off the season in grand style by shutting out Purdue.

In the one conference gamee playd, Michigan State showed undoubted power in overwhelming Indiana. The Spartans have speed, class and depth. On the right side of the ledger for the Big Ten were Iowa's win over Utah State, Minnesota's triumph over Washington, and Michigan's win over Southern California. Wisconsin also messed up Marquette in the other game involving teams from that conference.

ARMY SHOWS CLASS.

In the Ivy League, Princeton and Brown were supposed to be the teams to beat. Brown met defeat when a very well drilled and well handle Columbia eleven came up with a field goal, something seldom used by the collegians. The Tigers had a rough time with Rutgers, and were lucky to eke out a narrow victory. Steve Sebo has a much improved team at Penn. Penn gave the Nittany Lions a battle, and the Ivy League could provide a lot better competition than expected. Army could be the class of the Northeast, the Cadets showed plenty against Nebraska and didn't go all out. We'll know more about the Cadets after their game with Penn State next Saturday.

Navy kept rolling; they'll hit Notre Dame unbeaten. In the Southeast Duke still appears to be tops. You'll have to pay a lot of attention to North Carolina State. The win over North Carolina was considered just so and so, but State really creamed Maryland.

Auburn's win over Tennessee boosted the stock of the Tigers considerably and it will be up to either Kentucky or Georgia Tech to take them off the top rung. Georgia Tech lost caste with the SMU tie, but the bad weather contributed to that.

OREGON STATE SHINES.

Oklahoma was idle. And Oregon State, the best in the West, handed Kansas, not too bad an eleven, a real tossing around. From what we can see they'll say in front out there. Stanford and UCLA appear to be next in line.

In the Southwest, there is optimism from the standpoint of competition both within the conference and in intersectional tilts. TCU and SMU were both improved. Arkansas went well against Tulsa. Baylor topped a strong Houston team, and the Texas Aggies kept rolling as they shut out Texas Tech.

Now for the professionals. Five of the six opening games saw the favorites bite the dust, including the champions in both divisions, the New York Giants and Chicago Bears. The other choices to fall were the Detroit Lions, Washington Redskins and the San Francisco Forty-Niners.

Now the stock of the Browns, Packers, Colts and Cardinals has taken a boost. But it could be reduced next week-end without too much trouble.

Weston HD Club Leads In County Club Exhibits

Exhibits of Home Demonstration and 4-H Clubs of Collin County at the fair were judged Wednesday by Mrs. Myrtle Neggy of Denton County and Miss Barbara McNamara of Fannin County. The point system was used in scoring the various displays, Weston having the high score of 97 points.

Other clubs in order of points scored were:

Alla.
Lucas.
Anna.
Lebanon.
Murphy.
Bethany.
Higgins-Enloe.
Chambersville.
Chambersville 4-H Club.
Anna FHA.
Alla 4-H Club.

Each club selected a theme around which the exhibit was planned, all of which were educational. The large chart which Weston club ladies used, was on the theme "Coughing and Sneezing Spread Germs" with pictures showing the correct and incorrect way to handle such situations.

Civil Defense was the theme of second-place club, Anna, using the automobile as a means of protection during an air raid. The new Ford automobile, donated to the club by J. C. Loftice of Celina was used as "four wheels of survival," and was equipped with bedding as well as a first aid kit, canned foods, bottle of boiled water, dry milk and other emergency necessities. Placards explained the use of the car to "help you move away from danger; helps in shelter you; can be your shopping center and is your information center.

Suggestions to the seamtress in saving on clothing by "making your own belts and buckles" was Lucas' club theme. Steps toward the making of a belt and buckle were displayed along with some of the necessary equipment to be used. This item alone would lower the cost of a dress or other belted clothing quite a bit.

A kitchen range, with an arrange of utensils was exhibited by the Chambersville club whose theme was "Pots and Pans That Meet Your Needs."

The Chambersville 4-H club was also a winning exhibit, in which the club symbol—4-leaf clover—formed the background from which streamers extended to smaller symbols which marked the development needs of boys and girls, and which the 4-H club program meets in good health, spiritual values, achievement, citizenship, and others.

From scraps of Pillows" was the idea of the Anna club in arranging the exhibit of colorful pillows. They were in odd shapes and sizes, and of a variety of materials.

The process of preparing flowers, grain stems, leaves and other articles for dried arrangements were showed by the Lebanon Club, the exhibit featuring a Winter Bouquet" and how to make them.

Visitors to the Murphy club booth were attracted to the placard Mary, Mary, quite contrary, where does your money go?" but this was soon realized in the miniature doll house which represents the home and furnishings; clothes, recreation, automobile and food.

The Future Homemakers of Anna displayed a basic wardrobe which the girls had made, including a lovely evening dress, date, sports, schools and church frocks.

"Growing Health Personalities" demonstrated with posters which carried out the Bethany club theme in word and picture as fololws: "Love is as essential as milk"; "Security is the staff of life"; "Belonging is the building of personality"; "Approval smooths life's pathway"; "Achievement brings satisfaction"; "Acceptance—an apple a day will keep worry away"; "Adventure gives special flavor to life."

The Higgins-Enloe club emphasized "Health" in the booth which used items labeled as first aid, civil defense, communicable disease, care of sick, safety hazards and nutrition.

Traffic signals were used by the Alla 4-H clubbers in urging caution of motorists. The signs of life "Stop" "Slow" "RR" "Speed Limit 30," "Slow down and Life" and "Speed Kills" were all bodly shown to remind drivers the necessity of observing the traffic laws and signals of our country.

LETTERS FROM . . . THE PEOPLE

The Daily Courier-Gazette:

July 4, 1776, brought to America her greatest blessing, and July 5, 1935, brought to her the Wagner Labor Law fraught with her greatest dangers. It is said a Communist wrote it and included in it the heart of the Russian 1917 law which filled Russia with millions of lawless Reds which virtually destroyed law and order there. It brought in a Trojan horse which kicked the lid from Pandor's box and let out such Communist progenies as unrestrained strikes, closed shops, FEPC and NAACP.

The latter recently claimed 300,000 members, about 1,500 of our total population. But it seems like it induced our Supreme Court to ignore all the decisions of said court for the past 86 years which had held that neither the 14th. Amendment nor any other clause in the Constitution rendered state school segregation unconstitutional, and it coincided with the NAACP and held state segregation unconstitutional, but cited no clause in the Constitution to support it, but decided only on the ground that though the school facility of whites and negroes were equal segregation based on race would deprive the minor group of equal educational opportunity. And said separate educational facilities are inherently unequal. But Black's law dictionary says Simple Dictum is an assertion without proof. In this case there is no proof that the assertion is true. It does not prove that state segregation is unconstutional. Our two major parties and their nominees and both houses of Congress coincided with the NAACP but they can give no reason for it. They should get the beams out of their eyes before probing for motes in others eyes. In the 1850's the Constitution and two federal statues gave slave owners the right to have their fugutive slaves returned to them. But 12 states enacted laws against them and time and again fugitive slavers were taken from marshals by mob violence. But there is no federal statute nor clause in the constitution that mentions or condemns state segregation and nothing but assertions without proof and psychological knowledge to support the 1954 Supreme Court decision.

LETTERS FROM . . . THE PEOPLE

I wish to commend the editors of the Daily Courier-Gazette for the fine editorial, "New Day of Infamy," appearing in last Friday's issue. The basic cause for the writing of this editorial also causes us to wonder where we are going. We allow scores of Americans to rot in Communist prisons; we allow foreign courts to try our soldiers for obeying military orders; we free convicted traitors of our country; we cringe and retreat when Russia said get out of the Suez Canal; we turn our FBI files over to Communists within our borders; we pour billions into foreign enemy war machines while reducing our own, but we are strong and courageous in using army bayonets to spill the blood of our own civilians. Can we now, facing theese facts, condemn the action of Russia in Hungary? Where, I wonder, are we bound?

N. L. Jones' Are Honorees At Open House

The children of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Jones, of Princeton, honored them with open house Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Powell, 1309 North Church Street, this city.

In celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, the house carried out an appropriate decorative theme, with yellow tones prominent in floral arrangements and other decorations.

The dining table, covered in lace over gold, held a centerpiece of yellow carnations, and bronge, yellow and gold daisy mums in a gold container. A gold medallion with the numerals "50" was used with the arrangement from which extended streamers inscribed "Lankford" and "Esma." The guest table held a gold satin book. Yellow carnations and fern were used in a diamond cut white milk glass container. Elsewhere through out the house were seasonal flowers in autumn hues. Mrs. Jones' corsage was French carnations in delicate yellow.

Receiving the more than 70 guests who called, were Mr. and Mrs. Jones, their daughters, Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Bennett Perry of Plano, and their son, Chester L. Jones of Dallas, and families.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. Jess Rickman and Mrs. Jack Dunn, both of Princeton, Mrs. Ona Mae Bird and Miss Sharon Murphy of Garland, who served punch with the white wedding cake, which was embossed in green and gold.

The honored pair were presented with many lovely gifts, cards and flowers from their host of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Jones was Miss Esma Gray before her marriage in Princeton in 1907. The couple have lived in that community most of their lives.

Out-of-town guests who registered were Mrs. Kate Gray, Mrs. Harman Hall and daughter, Beverly, and Mr. and Mrs. Dock Gray, all of Sherman; Mrs. Bruce Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Craig and children, of Greenville; Mrs. Kenneth Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Berney Daelle, of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Quillen, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Quillen and children, all of Fort Worth; Mrs. Rachel Forte Calkins, Mrs. Linda Gail Recer, Mrs. Loretta Akins, Mrs. Ola Mae Bird, Mrs. Frank Connell and Miss Sharon Murphy, all of Garland, and a number of friends from the Princeton community.

Chamber of Commerce . . . CORNER

By PAT SIMPSON
C. of C. Manager

Collin County has completed another Annual County Fair. The first Collin County Fair was held in 1860 and has been an annual affair since with the exception of a few years skipped during war times. We should begin planning now for a really big Fair for our Centennial year 1960.

There is no way to check attendance at the Collin County Fair because it is free to the public and no regate count can be made as is done at other fairs. The Collin County Fair is one of the very few remaining free County Fairs in operation. For an estimate of our attendance the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company made a count of every one who stopped at their exhibit, this count was 6027 and did not include all who walked through the building. Those stopping at the booth were perhaps one half of the total attendance. Another count taken was at the kiddie rides, here 2591 children purchased tickets.

It would be impossible to thank all who do voluntary work around a County Fair but if it were not for their efforts the fair operation would be impossible. A County fair is never a money making project, the only aim in having money raising activities is to pay premiums and operational costs. The money is raised by business firms in the county buying advertising space in the fair catalog; business firms paying for exhibit space for commercial booths; stall rentals from livestock exhibitors; and a percentage from concessions and shows operating during fair time.

Workers from the city street department prepared the barns and buildings and cleaned up afterwards; Mr. Randles and Mr. Smith from the McKinney High School Agriculture department overhauled the stock pens; The McKinney Police department and Boy Scout Troop 304 of the First Baptist Church parked cars; and many other individuals did free work that made it possible to have the free fair. More money will be paid out for premiums and operation oest this year than will be coming in but a carry over of cash from last season will perhaps pay all obligations.

If you saw the TV section of the Dallas Times Herald for Sunday-Sept. 29 you perhaps saw the four pictures made during our fair and parade. This article was about county fairs in Texas—Thanks to the Times Herald for the recognition for Collin County.

We will try to be back in the Chamber of Commerce office next week and give you a rundown on some of the activities there.

Mrs. M. F. Daughtry has returned to Houston after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Jim Kimbriel here. Other guests recently in the Kimbriel home were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mayo of Garland. While in McKinney Mrs. Daughtry, accompanied by her mother and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Beene visited relatives in Greenville for a day.
